

DOCKET SHOWS 21 ARRESTS IN MARCH

Intoxicating Liquor, as Usual, Caused Largest Number of Affidavits in Local Court.

REPORT OF THE PROSECUTOR

In Police Court Today J. P. Hargrove Pleaded Guilty to Running a Gambling House.

Twenty-one arrests were made by the local police during the month of March, according to the docket of Chief of Police McCord. As usual liquor was the cause of the largest number of arrests. During the month eleven were arrested for intoxication. Most of them were found guilty and paid fines of $1 and costs each.

In March one arrest was made for each of the following causes: Carrying concealed weapons, running a gambling house, gambling, train riding, assault and battery, riding bicycle on the sidewalk, receiving stolen goods, larceny, rape and public indecency.

The monthly report of Deputy Prosecutor F. W. Wesner shows that thirty-two cases were tried in the justice of peace courts in the county. The majority of these were tried in Seymour and Brownstown.

J. P. Hargrove this afternoon pleaded guilty to a charge of running a gambling house and was fined $10 and costs by Special Judge Oscar Abell. The affidavit against Hargrove was filed several weeks ago by Mrs. James Allegro who stated that she saw several men playing cards when she looked through the rear window of Hargrove's store on Indianapolis avenue. She said she was looking for her husband. A change of venue was taken from Mayor Ross and Oscar B. Abell was appointed special judge.

Hargrove said that he pleaded guilty under protest and would have rather had the case tried but because of the inconvenience to the witnesses. He denied that he was gambling or running a gambling house and said that three of his customers were playing a social game of bridge. After pleading guilty he paid his fine and his cash bond of $200 for his appearance in court was released. John Johnson of Scottsburg, came to Seymour Wednesday and sampled many brands of liquor. He was picked up by the police in an intoxicated condition and when he had sobored up he pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs. A short time after he was released he was again found in an intoxicated condition and fined. He was not brought into court the second time upon his promise to leave the city.

CHARGE OF KIDNAPPING FILED AGAINST SPEARS

Young Man Ordered From Seymour is Arrested at Brownstown for Alleged Serious Offense.

Fred Spears, of Orleans, who was arrested at Brownstown recently after he had been requested to leave this city, will face several serious charges at the next term of court. The local police suspicioned him and notified the Brownstown officers that he was going to that place. The officers there kept watch over him and he was seen leaving town in company with the little son and daughter of Andy Robbins.

The boy is seven years old and the girl is four years of age. It is claimed that he offered the lad ten cents to go back and get some matches but it later developed that Spears had matches with him. A charge of kidnapping has been filed against him. Spears formerly worked in Seymour. He told the officers that he was twenty-four years of age but they believe that he is much younger.

L. A. HENDERSON RESIGNS AS ATTENDANCE OFFICER

Successor Will be Appointed Saturday by the County Board of Education.

L. A. Henderson, county school attendance officer, has resigned his position, the resignation becoming effective Wednesday. County Superintendent J. E. Payne said today that his successor will be named Saturday. The appointment is made by the county board of education.

Those interested in the public schools of the county take considerable interest in the appointment because of the important work of the attendance officer. Before the new compulsory attendance law was enacted by the last state legislature the official was known as a truant officer. Under the recent law the work is more varied and requires more time. The requirements of the compulsory attendance act are very rigid and its enforcement is left largely to the attendance officer.

LOSS OF ONE-HALF MILLION IN ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., FIRE

County Court House and Five Hotels Burned to the Ground—Guests Run From the Flames.

By United Press. St. Augustine, Fla., April 2—Fire destroyed the county court house, five tourists' hotels and several houses early today. Two persons were injured, believed fatally, by jumping from the burning structures. The loss will amount to $500,000.

Many guests clad scantily fled to the streets. Almost two blocks along the water front were burned to the ground. The fire started in the kitchen of the Florida, a wooden structure and spread rapidly. The Vedder house, a famous landmark, containing many historical relics, was among the buildings destroyed.

FIFTY SEAMEN DIE IN NORTHERN SEAS

Steamer Southern Cross Caught in Ice Drifts While Returning From Sealing Expedition.

ACCIDENT NEAR CAPE RACE

Members of the Crew Jumped to Ice Floes and Are Picked up by The Newfoundland.

By United Press.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, April 2—The Steamer Newfoundland arrived here today bearing fifty dead bodies taken from the sealing steamer Southern Cross. The latter was returning from a sealing expedition and was caught in an ice drift. Practically the entire crew of seventy men were lost, it is reported. The steamer met with the accident just off Cape Race and the crew jumped to the ice floes.

The crew was picked up by the Newfoundland forty-eight hours later and only a few survived from the cold. Their condition is pitiful and they are so weakened from exposure that they were unable to relate the experience.

A later report coming from Curling, Newfoundland, says that the reports regarding the sealing fleet disaster are conflicting. According to one dispatch two hundred of the ship Newfoundland are dead from exposure. Four thousand men in ships are endangered by the blizzard. The latest reports say that the Southern Cross is safe.

FIGURES WANTED ON PARCEL POST

Postmaster Swope Asked to Keep Record of Packages Handled From April 1 to 15.

DELIVERED FIRST DAY

Forty-three Parcels Mailed at Local Office Wednesday—Total Weight Was 66 Pounds.

The first special record to be kept by Postmaster Swope is that showing the number of parcel post packages received here and sent from the office together with other statistics regarding that department. The record will be kept for the first fifteen days of this month according to the order issued by the department at Washington.

In compliance with the instructions the first count was made Wednesday. During the day a total of 123 pieces of parcel post mail were received at the local office for delivery. These were not weighed here as this part of the record was made at the sending offices. Forty-three packages were dispatched from the Seymour office Wednesday. Their total weight was sixty-six pounds and 2 ounces. The postage on the packages totaled $3.24. Of the 123 packages received here 73 were distributed by the city carriers, 26 by the rural route carriers and 24 were distributed from the general delivery window and the boxes. The mail Wednesday was about that received on an average day. Usually the incoming and outgoing mail is heavier on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays than on other days.

The blank sent to Postmaster Swope calls for considerable information. The count must be made accurately and the other information wanted must be supplied with great care. The department is seeking this information for purposes of its own.

The instructions state that the total number of parcels received and the weight of each must be recorded. The blank provides space for the amount of postage and to what zone the packages are addressed. Wednesday mail was sent from the local office to practically every zone. Two packages were sent into the eighth zone.

Information is also sought as to the number of parcels delivered by automobiles, cost of such service, number delivered by horse drawn vehicles and the cost. The department is evidently seeking statistics on the methods of delivering parcel post mail. Inquiries are made as to the number delivered by city carriers, through general delivery windows and post office boxes, by rural carriers, special delivery and the total delivered without additional cost to the department. Postmasters are also required to state the cost of delivery by conveyances, and by substitute carriers on foot.

Under the heading of miscellaneous inquiries are blanks calling for the total number of parcels handled, estimated cost of clerk hire for handling parcel post mail from April 1 to 15, inclusive, number of insured parcels mailed at the office, fees collected on insured parcels mailed at this office and the number of C. O. D. parcels mailed here.

All postmasters in the country are required to supply the same information for the first fifteen days of April and when the reports are filed the department will be in a position to give some additional information relative to use and cost of the service.

Aspirants Conducting Active Campaigns Before the State Convention April 21-23.

With the coming of the Republican state convention at Indianapolis April 21, 22 and 23, there is great activity in all counties in preparation for the meeting. Delegates will be chosen in most of the counties on the 11th.

Several new candidates and probable candidates have been heard of in the last few days. Newt Brown of Franklin, has come out for nomination for auditor of state. He was the nominee for the same office two years ago. Brown is one of the leading farmers of Johnson county and a member of the state board of agriculture.

For state treasurer the name of Job Freeman of Terre Haute, a coal mine operator, is mentioned, although Freeman has not yet made up his mind whether he will run. He was the nominee for state treasurer in 1912. The name of Harry Stinson of Evansville, also is heard. Stinson was auditor of Vanderburg county eight years and deputy auditor twelve years.

Harry Hogan of Fort Wayne, is the name most mentioned for the nomination for attorney-general, although he has not made any announcement. John H. Edwards of Mitchell, formerly representative from Lawrence county, also has been talked of for the place, and B. M. Owens of Scottsburg, who was the Republican candidate for prosecuting attorney for Scott county, two years ago, has announced himself as a candidate for the place.

For superintendent of public instruction Dr. Horace Ellis, president of Vincennes university, has announced himself a candidate. Harry R. Campbell, of Indianapolis, is an announced candidate.

AID FOR WIDOWS AND MINOR CHILDREN OF WAR VETERANS

Bill to Provide for Dependents of Soldiers of Spanish War and Boxer Uprising.

Washington, April 2.—Pensions for widows and minor children of the officers and men who served in the Spanish War, the Philippine insurrection and the Boxer uprising in China would be authorized by a bill which passed the House yesterday by a vote of 276 to 54.

The bill would grant $12 monthly to the widow of an honorably discharged soldier or sailor and $2 monthly for each child under 16 years of age, provided that the widow shall have married the soldier prior to the passage of the bill. The pensions are to be limited, however, to widows without means of support other than their daily labor and an actual net income not exceeding $250 a year.

An inquiry among the camps of the United Spanish War Veterans indicated there were about 4,000 widows of men who served in the Spanish War and the Philippine insurrection. It is estimated that an appropriation of $2,500,000 will be required to pay the pensions.

LIND WILL RETURN TO UNITED STATES

Special Representative of President Will Leave Post in Mexico Friday.

WORK HAS BEEN STRENUOUS

Ill Health Given as Reason for Lind's Return—Will Take Rest at French Lick.

By United Press.

Washington, April 2—President Wilson announced this afternoon that John Lind, the President's special representative in Mexico, will leave that country for the United States tomorrow. He will sail from Vera Cruz on the Steamship Solace. As soon as he holds a short conference with President Wilson he will leave for French Lick Springs to recuperate.

The rumor that Lind had been recalled was denied by President Wilson. He said that the work of the American representative had been strenuous and that his return to the United States was due to ill health. He did not state who if anyone would be sent to Mexico to continue the work of Lind.

TORREON BELIEVED TO BE UNDER CONTROL OF VILLA

Said That Commander of Constitutionalists Will Not Make Statement Until He is Sure.

Juarez, Mexico, April 2—That Torreon is already virtually in the possession of General Villa's Constitutional force, but that Villa will not "officially announce" his victory until he is in absolute, undisturbed control was the statement made here today by a high official of the Constitutional government. He declares he has proof that all but two small remnants of the Federal garrison of General Jose Refugio Velasco, once numbering more than eight thousand, had been dispersed. He refused to divulge Villa's reasons for failing to claim the city, but indicated that he was withholding the news in order to carry out a coup which would result in the capture of Federal reinforcements rushing toward Torreon, and possibly in the capture of Monterrey and Saltillo.

General Venustiano Carranza and his cabinet had a two-hour talk with General Villa by wire last night. Later Carranza's chief of staff gave out the substance of this conversation, declaring Villa had "unofficially reported" that a remnant of the Federal army was offering "an unexpected defense."

TOTAL RAINFALL DURING MARCH WAS 2.58 INCHES

Total Precipitation in March Last Year Was 10.82 Inches Resulting in the Big Flood.

Comparison of the weather reports for March this year and the corresponding month 1913 shows a striking difference in the amount of rainfall. In March 1913 the total precipitation was 10.82 inches and a total of over eight inches fell on three days. The precipitation last month was but 2.58 inches and included the melting snow. The figures were obtained from the monthly reports filed by J. Thomas Hays, official weather observer for Seymour.
The rainfall last month was 1.82 inches below normal. Very little moisture was recorded until the latter part of the month.

March this year was unusual because of the absence of the severe winds which generally come at that time. During the month there was but one thunder storm. No serious overflow of streams were reported in this section of the country.

In other respects the two months were very similar. The maximum temperature last month was 72 degrees and was recorded on three days. The minimum temperature was 12 degrees on the second. The highest temperature in March 1913 was 76 degrees and the lowest was 8 degrees. The mean temperature last month was 41.3 degrees and the average for the same month last year was 44.8 degrees. Snow to the depth of 3.95 inches fell during the last month while in March 1913 the snowfall was 3 inches. Frost occurred on seventeen days this month.

CHANGES IN TEMPERATURE WILL BE RAPID IN APRIL

According to the Prediction for This Month Wind, Thunder and Rain Will Prevail.

According to some weather predictions for April, one will be compelled to carry an overcoat continually. There is to be a succession of storms during the month and the temperature will change rapidly from cold to warm and vice versa.

A regular storm period covers the first week in April, having its center on the 3rd. During the 1st and 2nd marked change to warmer will appear in western regions, and areas of winds, thunder and rain will take up their march from west to east.

A reactionary storm period is central from the 8th to the 11th. Storm conditions will show sudden developments—much warmer south winds and low barometer, merging into electrical storms with rain, hail and wind very probable in western sections as early as the 8th.

A regular storm period extends from the 13th to the 17th. This period will come to its crisis on and touching the 14th, 15th and 16th.
Look first for the change to warmer, followed by cloudiness, falling barometer and rain.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on the 20th, 21st and 22nd.
On and touching these days, look for a market return of storm conditions—much warmer, south winds, decided fall of the barometer and storms of thunder and rain.

A regular storm period extends over the last week of April, having its center on the 26th.

OTHERS FROM VACANT LOTS

Interesting Testimony Regarding Manner in Which Fictitious Names Were Registered For Voting Purposes Is Brought Out in Trial of Mayor Donn
M. Roberts, Charged With Conspiracy to Commit Election Frauds.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 2.—The taking of testimony of an investigator directed by William Bailey, Republican city chairman, was admitted in evidence in the trial of Donn M. Roberts, charged with conspiracy to commit election frauds.

Judge Harris, for the state, on direct examination of Ernest Schumer, Republican investigator of alleged false registrations, sought to bring before the jury the large number of falsely registered names recorded on the registration books of Precinct A of the First ward—names which Schu-mer looked up.

Examination of Schumer showed many fictitious names on the register of persons purported to have lived at certain places in the precinct. Some of the bogus registrations were from vacant lots, others from fictitious addresses and still others from homes whose occupants did not know the persons so registered.

Six names on the register of that precinct, according to Mr. Schumer, were registered from a vacant lot east of the county jail, one from the second floor of a one-story building on Wabash avenue near the river bridge, several more from fictitious addresses, while many were from houses where the names were unknown.

AUBURN IS AN APPLICANT

Wants to Entertain Northern Indiana
Methodists Next Year.

Mishawaka, Ind., April 2.—Auburn is hot after the 1915 session of the North Indiana M. E. conference, now in session here. The Rev. James A.
Beatty, superintendent of the Fort Wayne district, has started a campaign which he expects to result in securing the meeting for Auburn, his appeal being made at the first business session of the conference.

Aside from the business session the day was featured by several addresses, leading speakers being Dr. Madison Swadener of Indianapolis, assistant national secretary of the Anti-Saloon league, and the Rev. J. Albert Sum-walt of Logansport, Ind., who explained the need of the missionary.

The Rev. Dorie V. Williams of Alexandria was re-elected conference secretary and named the Rev. William A.
Griest of Fort Wayne and the Rev.
Frank S. Hickman of Greencastle as his assistants. The Rev. David S.
Jones of Auburn was elected treasurer and the assistants named were Charles B. Dougherty, Silas L. Cates, George F. Hubart, E. A. Hale and James H. Richardson. The Rev. Francis R. Reichelderfer of Topeka was re-elected statistical secretary and he appointed as his assistants Charles M.
Hobbs, P. H. Walter, Warren W. Kiant and Clyde G. Yeomans.

Reports of the six district superintendents were read.

Threw Himself in Creek.

Columbus, Ind., April 2.—The reason assigned for the suicide of Miss Katherine Shaner, aged twenty-four, who jumped from the Third street bridge here into riaw creek, was worry because her brother Otto had gone away. She told her father that she was going out to find her brother. She walked directly to the bridge, removed her coat and hat and jumped into the creek.

Built Fire in Box Car.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 2.—An unidentified man was fatally burned when he built a fire on the floor of a Wabash box car near here and fell asleep beside it. The crew of a passing train saw the fire and found the man in the midst of the flames. He was taken to a hospital but has no chance for recovery.

County Tuberculosis Society.

South Bend, Ind., April 2.—Work on the new $30,000 hospital of the South Bend Anti-Tuberculosis society will be started this week. The building will be erected on a ninety-six-acre plot of ground set apart for the institution by the county and city in the northwest part of the city.

Fatal Hunting Accident.

Kendallville, Ind., April 2.—Charles Smith, aged seventeen, is dead at Wawaka from gunshot wounds accidentally received while hunting. He was a junior in high school and a member of the basketball team, which competed in the state tournament.

Woman's Mysterious Death.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 2.—The body of Mrs. J. W. Kerr was found by her husband at their home. The family insists she was assaulted by persons with intent to murder, but the coroner holds to the belief that she committed suicide.

The advance of the Red Cross Christmas seal as an agency directed at the "white plague" is shown by reports issued from the headquarters of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. In 1913 a total of 1,964,344 of these cheery little holiday stickers were sold in Indiana compared with 1,283,879 in 1912, and 1,244,441 in 1911.

As a result of the fund thus created, approximately 70 county and city anti-tuberculosis societies in Indiana will be enabled to deal stronger blows than ever before at the insidious disease which each year kills more than 4,000 men, women and children in this state. Throughout the state, women's clubs, churches, commercial organizations, boards of health, medical societies and thousands of individuals are giving direct thought to the possible elimination of consumption. One of the strongest reasons for this advanced interest in the fact that this disease kills at a period of life when the victim should be in the prime of existence. Statistics covering a long term of years show that one-third of the deaths between the ages of 15 and 35 are caused by tuberculosis.

Within the next ten days, three trained nurses will open a new field in Indiana's war of prevention, against tuberculosis. They will go to any community which desires their services and will attempt to arouse public interest by means of lectures before clubs and other organizations and in the schools. They will be equipped to go direct into the homes where consumption exists and render efficient supplementary services to the physician in charge.
They will, if requested, begin campaigns for county tuberculosis hospitals under the Acts of 19113 and will be qualified to assist local anti-tuberculosis societies in building up the membership. There nurses will be routed from the offices of the State Anti-Tuberculosis Society but will do purely local work in the community where they may happen to be employed. Because of the very nature of their work, they are already being dubbed "stimulators" by the members of the state society. This method of campaigning against the "white plague" is an Indiana idea and the result is being watched throughout the country. Officers of the National Anti-Tuberculosis Society have recently congratulated the Indiana Society for originating the plan and if it is successful the work, no doubt, will spread to other states.

Delegates elected under this call will meet in Room 85 of the State House, at Indianapolis, Indiana, on Tuesday, April 21, 1914, at 7:30 p. m.

Precinct committeemen in the several townships will please look after places to meet and personally urge all republicans to attend their township conventions. Republicans in general throughout the county are urged to attend these meetings and participate in the selection of delegates to the district and state conventions.

Frank Brady, County Chairman.

Look to Your Plumbing.

You know what happens in a house in which the plumbing is in poor condition—everybody in the house is liable to contract typhoid or some other fever. The digestive organs perform the same functions in the human body as the plumbing does for the house, and they should be kept in first class condition all the time. If you have any trouble with your digestion take Chamberlain's tablets and you are certain to get quick relief. For sale by all dealers.

Al Beatty attempted to release Lewis and was killed instantly.

THE OVERBLOUSE FROCK AN ECONOMICAL AND BECOMING MODE

Laces play an important part in the costume world this season; they are used for trimming, for collars, cuffs, tunics and blouses. The underblouse of lace or chiffon works wonders with a frock the color of which is somewhat trying and its softness is very becoming.

While taffetas is very smart, it is seldom becoming if worn too close to the face. In No. 8259 is shown an attractive overblouse dress of dark green taffetas. The bodice shows the new yoke, a skirt with a puff and shaped trimming band. The underblouse is of shadow lace over chiffon.

To copy this dress in size 36, it requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

The other frock illustrated is also in overblouse effect, with a gulf of figured net. The one-sided tunic is pleated to give the effect of box pleats and falls gracefully over a slender, two-piece skirt. Silk poplin in a rich mahogany shade is the material, with a collar and girdle of velvet in the same shade. A wide fall of lace finishes the sleeves, and the bottom of the skirt is embroidered.

This gown requires for size 36, 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Silk poplin ranges in price from 71 cents to $3 a yard.

No. 8259—sizes 34 to 42. No. 8250—sizes 34 to 42. Each pattern 15 cents.

These patterns for sale by the Racket Store. L. F. Miller.

TORREON STILL RESISTS VILLA

Fighting Continues In the Be-leagured City.

WORD FROM THE REBEL LEADER

First Message From Villa Received at Juarez Since Monday Night Says That His Troops Have Taken Part of the City, but That Fighting Continues and He Hopes Soon to Be Able to Report Complete Victory.

El Paso, April 2.—Venustiano Carranza has received a message from Pancho Villa at Torreon, stating that the rebels are in possession of practically the entire city, with the federals who escaped surrounded by his forces in a canyon near town.

Mexico City, April 2.—Reports of the fall of Torreon are again current in the capital. Other reports at the same time announce a tremendous rebel defeat. Actual news from the front appears unobtainable, but the government's failure to give out any reports regarding the situation make a federal reverse seem most probable.

El Paso, April 2.—"In answer to your message, I wish to reply that although we have taken a part of the city of Torreon, the struggle has not yet been concluded. I hope that before many hours we will obtain a complete triumph, of which I will notify you."

This message from General Pancho Villa is the first definite news from the rebel commander now investing Torreon that has been received here since Monday night.

The message came from Villa in reply to repeated attempts of the rebel officials in Juarez to reach the rebel general for confirmation or denial of the message sent to Washington by United States Consul Hamm at Durango, reporting the capture of Torreon by Villa.

It set at rest the various reports that have been prevalent here that Torreon had fallen into rebel hands; that the rebels had been defeated and driven back, that Villa had been killed, etc.

While Juarez had been apprised that fighting continued at Torreon, the above message was the first one direct from Villa. He did not say a word about Maclovio Herrera's command which was sent to intercept federal reinforcements supposed to be coming to Torreon. A previous message said the command had met the federal reinforcements at San Pedro and had blown up their troop train, killing hundreds of them.

Other messages received here, official but not from Villa, stated that the rebels held the Salvador hotel, the Garcia warehouse and several other buildings in the heart of Torreon. The Salvador hotel is a five-story building and affords the rebels an excellent fortification.

A private telegram received from Vice Consul George C. Carothers with Villa at Torreon, denied the reported execution of British Vice Consul H. S. Cunard-Cummings by federals at Torreon, where the vice consul had gone presumably as the emissary of Villa to treat with General Velasco for an armistice. The message stated the Cummings had returned to the relatives safely and added that all foreigners were safe.

Nothing is known in Juarez regarding the armistice said to have been reported in Torreon by Consul Hamm by way of Eagle Pass. The presumption is, going on the message from Villa, that no such armistice took place. A rumor had reached Juarez that Velasco had applied to Villa for an armistice to arrange terms of evacuation, but it proved to be groundless so far as official confirmation was concerned, and it is presumed in Juarez that if Consul Hamm sent any such message it was on the old rumor.

A BATTLE AT MATAMORAS

This Is Among the Events Billed For the Near Future.

Matamoras, Mexico, April 2.—That it is the purpose of the Huerta government to try and obtain control of the Matamoras gateway to the United States is indicated by the authoritative information received here that a force of 2,000 federal troops has left Lampazos for this point. The marching column is commanded by Colonel Vergea. The rebels are congregating in large numbers at Mier, near the Texas border, for the purpose of intercepting the federals.

Vogel Swears He's "Broke." New York, April 2.—Frank E. Vogel, associated with Henry Siegel in the control of the various Siegel enterprises, repeated before United States Commissioner Gilchrist that he has not a penny left of more than $1,200,000 he had some years ago. He swore that now his wife, who is a member of the Nelson Morris family of Chicago, is practically supporting him.

Brakeman Killed by Train. Ft. Wayne, Ind., April 2.—M. P. Callaghan, aged fifty-five, a Nickel Plate brakeman, was run over and killed in the railroad yards here.

Any political organization that is conducted in the interest of one clique of men will go down to defeat sooner or later. Leaders selected by the people are necessary but self appointed domineering bosses will not be recognized. They may remain in power a short time but their public career is soon ended. Voters in Jackson county are becoming disgusted with the boss controlled Democratic organization which hold complete authority over the party. They will be given an opportunity to speak in November and according to the present signs they will assert themselves in no uncertain manner.

The latest poll of the senators shows that there will be a majority of fifteen in favor of the repeal of the tolls exemption clause as advocated by President Wilson. Rumors have been rife at Washington that the senate would not vote to repeal the clause but the President has been given the assurance of his supporters that his wishes will be respected.

The Brownstown Banner doubtless regards the report of the rumpus at the meeting of the Democratic county committee as "editorial matter" and would keep it out of print.

About the only difference between "able leadership" and "big stick methods" in actual practice is the name.

HUERTA GOVERNS
BY RULE OF BLOOD

Brutal Assassination of Opponents
Will be Recorded in Future
History of Mexico.

SECRECY IS MAINTAINED

Any One Who Writes Anything Against the Administration is Deported from the Country.

Vera Cruz, April 2—The most conservative description of Huerta's regime is told in the one word "pitiless." Mexico is a bloody land, at best, but the historian of the future, when he writes of Huerta's deeds, will describe one of Mexico's bloodiest periods. The blood spilling of open warfare is not so repulsive as the blood-lotting of the assassin or the cold-blooded, secret murder and burial of men in hidden out-of-the-way places.

How many leading men of Mexico, of various parties, have silently disappeared from sight, cannot now be ascertained. The whole thing is a subject that no one in Mexico City dares to mention. The newspapermen who would attempt to ferret out the mystery would be subjected immediately to Article No. 33, of the constitution which provides that any foreigner who writes anything against Mexico shall be immediately deported.

But the truth is slowly coming out nevertheless, through opponents of Huerta and though some of their stories, secretly given to the writer, may be overdrawn, nevertheless they are interesting as indicating the horror with which the average citizen of Mexico City views Huerta's doings.

The story of the assassination of Scrapio Rendon, however, is known to be true. How as a graduate of Cornell University in the United States and a member of the house of deputies, opposed to Huerta. One evening in August of 1913, he was a dinner guest at the mansion of an American society woman. During the dinner he said, "I know that I will drop from sight some day. I fully expect it." At 11 o'clock he started for home, but was seized on the way. The next day a ruffian offered for sale to Dr. Emilio Cardenas, in the village of Tlanepantla, a pair of spectacles in a case which bore Rendon's initials. Dr. Cardenas, it happened was a friend of Rendon. He purchased the spectacles and the case and questioned the ruffian. "They belonged to a man killed last night," said the ruffian. "We were ordered to shoot him, but he tried to fight and so we gave him 20 bullets." Where Rendon was buried is not known; his family does not dare to seek information.

The story of the assassination of Belisario Dominguez surpassed belief of the man who doesn't know Mexico. Dominguez, a senator, had openly opposed Huerta. Mexicans here believe the story that Dominguez, who was forced to go to a hospital for a slight illness was under the influence of chloroform for a minor operation when word came to the proprietor of the hospital, Dr. Urrutia, who was then Huerta's right-hand-man, that Dominguez should be executed. The unconscious man, it is said, was taken into a vacant lot in the dead of night, and shot. Dominguez was wealthy and talented.

Rafael Villacorta and Alfonso Escalona, two newspaper reporters who sympathized with Madero, met their death in a corn field in the suburbs of Mexico City. Huerta it is said, when he first became dictator sought the whereabouts of various Madero senators. He tried to locate Bordes Mangel, a leading Maderista, and discovered that the two newspaper reporters, Villacorta and Escalona had recently interviewed Mangel. The newspapermen were arrested and ordered to tell where Mangel might be found. Escalona refused and was summarily sentenced to be shot. Villacorta, it is said, gave the facts on promise of being released. On June 28 Francisco Chavez, the chief of police, sent the two men, in the care of guards to a suburban town. On the way their guards said to them, "We're going to let you go. You run into that corn field and we'll say you got away from us."

The young fellows, both delighted, jumped from the automobile in which they were riding and, waving their hands in "goodbyes," dashed for the cornfield. They had not gone 100 feet before their guards shot them both dead. In official parlance, they had been given the "ley de fuga" or "law of flight."

In the grim San Juan de Ulua prison at Vera Cruz there now lies Mrs. Guadalupe Guille de Saldano, with a new born baby girl. Her crime is that she is the cousin to Adolfo Crive, a rebel. One evening last January, the police entered the Saldano home during the dinner hour and took Saldano and his wife off to the penitentiary. An hour later she was taken to the train for Vera Cruz. Her destination was Quintana Roo, a district which is Mexico's Siberia. Women who go there are fed to the last of convict-soldiers; Quintana Roo is a name of horror to the men and women

Your Home and Your Neighbors

This is "Neighborhood Improvement Week" in thousands of communities where every property owner is asked to consider the improvement of his property and the neighborhood in which it is located. Are you helping to arouse interest in your neighborhood?

In home and neighborhood improvement plenty of good paint is the first essential. The paint must both beautify and protect buildings. You can accomplish this most easily and satisfactorily with

Low Brothers
High Standard
LIQUID PAINT

"High Standard" hides the surface better, spreads over more surface per gallon of paint and wears longer than ordinary paint because it is scientifically made of the best materials by expert paintmakers. Years of exposure tests have proved that these careful methods give most complete protection and lasting beauty. "High Standard" is the most satisfactory and economical paint to use.

Come in and ask us to give you paint information and color combinations for interior walls, floors and woodwork as well as for the outside of your house.

ONLY SIXTEEN,
GIRL VERY SICK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New Orleans, La.—“I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better.”—Miss AMELIA JAQUILLARD, 3961 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—“My mother was alarmed because I was troubled with suppression and had pains in my back and side, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked like a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them.”—Miss ESTELLA MAGUIRE, 110 Thwing St., St. Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

DOUGLAS I. M'KAY

New York Police Commissioner Who Has Resigned.

New York, April 2.—Douglas I. McKay has resigned as police commissioner. He desires to retire at once, if possible, but asked that he be retained not longer than April 15 at the latest. McKay declined to give his reasons for resigning. It was assumed at police headquarters that he wished to re-enter private business.

PLAN TO TAKE OVER THE MISSOURI PACIFIC

Rumor Has It the Goulds Are Going to Sell.

New York, April 2.—Present signs in Wall street point unmistakably to the fact that Blair & Co. is actively engaged in forming a syndicate to take over the holdings of the Gould family in the Missouri Pacific and to eliminate the Goulds from that system.

Wall street is firmly convinced that negotiations are actively on between the Goulds and the Blairs as the leaders of a syndicate, and in fact that these negotiations have progressed to the point of getting the signatures of George J. Gould and the other members of the family concerned to the documents. It is believed by some of the best informed men in Wall street that Mr. Gould has agreed orally to sell out, though George J. Gould said that he knew nothing about the report that he was selling out.

In the three conditions, however, that, according to Wall street's conviction, remain open, there is the broad possibility of the whole plan being thrown over, as the famous plan of 1910 for a similar purpose was turned topsy turvy by Mr. Gould at the eleventh hour. These three conditions are:

1. That a price for the sale of the stock be reached agreeable to the Goulds and the Blair interests.
2. That this price be agreeable to the rest of the syndicate members.
3. That Mr. Gould's signature be set down on the papers.

THREE MORE AIRMEN KILLED

Rheims Aviation Field the Scene of Distressing Tragedies.

Rheims, France, April 2.—Three names were added to the death toll of aviation here when Emile Vedrines, a brother of Jules Vedrines, the famous French aviator, was killed in a fall, and Pierre Leon Testulat and Clement Avigny perished when their machine caught fire in midair.

Vedrines was making a flight in his monoplane over the aviation field here. Later in the day the aeroplane driven by Testulat caught fire in midair. Avigny was his passenger. The tank of gasoline caught fire, enveloping them in flaming liquid. The body of Avigny was almost entirely consumed.

UNCLE SAM & CO.,
PRODUCE DEALERS

Parcel Post Scheme to Be Tried Out in Ten Cities.

ALL TOWNS TO GET IT LATER

Butter, Eggs, Vegetables, Etc., Will Be Supplied on Demand—Postmasters to Take Orders—Printed Lists Will Show Available Commodities and Sellers' Names.

Another method of reducing the high cost of living will be attempted in a scheme for the extension of the parcel post system, announced by Postmaster General Burleson.

Under the new scheme the names of farmers and truck growers willing to supply their produce in retail quantities by parcel post will be obtained by the postoffice department.

This announcement followed closely the order of the postmaster general permitting the use of crates and boxes for parcel post shipments of butter, eggs, poultry, vegetables and fruit. At first the new system will be put into effect in ten cities of varying size, where the workings will be closely studied. Later it will be extended to all towns in the country. The scheme will be inaugurated first at Boston, Atlanta, St. Louis, San Francisco, Washington, Baltimore, Detroit, Lacrosse, Wis.; Lynn, Mass., and Rock Island, Ill.

Postmasters Will Receive Orders.

The postmasters of these points have been directed to receive the names of persons willing to supply farm produce in retail quantities by parcel post. Printed lists of their names, showing in each case the kinds and quantities of commodities available, will be prepared from time to time for distribution to city and town patrons who wish to buy farm produce direct.

Housewives need have no hesitancy in ordering their goods direct from the producer, in the eyes of the postal officials, who cite the fraud laws as a guarantee. Complaints of swindling would be investigated immediately by the postoffice inspectors, and the producer, if guilty, would be punished.

This scheme will eliminate the middlemen, often two or three for a single article, it is said, and thus enable the purchaser to buy much more cheaply. Government experts, after recent investigations, held that the middlemen are the ones who are keeping the prices of foodstuffs so high.

No More Going to Market.

“By the use of the printed lists of producers the city consumer will be able to get in touch with a farmer who will fill his weekly orders for butter and eggs and other farm produce,” said Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmaster general. “The consumer will receive the produce fresh from the country, and the personal relationship established will no doubt tend to improve the quality. The farmer will be relieved of carrying his produce to market, as the rural carrier will make daily collections at the farmer's own door.”

“The point has been raised that difficulty will be experienced in the return of hampers and other containers. This problem does not appear to me to be difficult of solution. The farmer may use inexpensive hampers whose value would not warrant their return, or he may use the higher grade hampers, for which he may include an additional charge to be credited to the consumer upon the return of the hamper by parcel post.”

“The postmaster general has the firm conviction that this plan is the one thing necessary to enable the people of this country to enjoy the potential benefits of the parcel post. No one has ever questioned the possibility of reducing the cost of living by establishing direct relations between the ultimate consumer and the original producer.”

Common Sense as Basis of Health. Dr. James L. Wellington of Swan sea, the oldest living alumnus of Harvard, has just celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday. Here are his health rules:

- “Sit up to 11 o'clock at night if you desire to.”
- “If you smoke, smoke a little when you feel so inclined.”
- “Be reasonably careful in what you eat.”
- “Use common sense in all your ways of living.”

IRELAND'S POPULATION.

There are 4,459,000 people in Ireland, by the census of 1911, of whom 3,243,000, or 74 per cent, are Roman Catholics. The Episcopalians are 577,000, the Presbyterians 441,000 and the Methodists 62,000. In the provinces of Leinster, Munster and Connaught the Catholics greatly outnumber the Protestants, but in Ulster, the remaining one of the four provinces, the Protestants outnumber the Catholics by nearly 200,000. In six of the nine counties forming the province of Ulster the Catholics are in a considerable majority, but the city of Belfast and its suburbs are overwhelmingly Protestant.

EQUAL DIVISION OF PUBLIC LAND

Mexico to Establish Peasant Ownership.

REAL WEALTH OF THE PEOPLE

Upon the Opening of the Mexican Congress President Huerta Announced in His Message the Decision of the Government to Create a Department of Colonization With a View to Division of Land Among the People.

Mexico City, April 2.—After having been adjourned since Dec. 9 last, the Mexican congress reconvened yesterday. President Huerta drove through troop-lined streets to the senate and was present during the first formalities marking the opening of the session. The executive read a long message, at the conclusion of which all the representatives cheered and the wildest enthusiasm prevailed for several minutes.

While shouts of “Viva Huerta” were heard on all sides, one loud cry of “Viva Carranza” stunned the assemblage, but a few seconds later the cheering for Huerta was resumed louder than ever. The disturber was not discovered.

After General Huerta concluded the reading of his message, congress adjourned. In discussing the Mexican American relations, the provisional president said:

“Our international relations are most cordial with the principal powers of the world. While it is true that some American governments have not recognized the constitutional government ad interim of the republic, the majority of these have maintained diplomatic relations in Mexico and none of them has completely severed its relations with this republic.”

“The United States has been good enough to invite me through his excellency, President Wilson, to co-operate in organizing the preliminary work for the approaching peace conference at The Hague.”

“The national budget has found itself deprived of resources as the result of the contraction of foreign money markets and the indirect influences exercised on these markets by the strange attitude of a certain power toward Mexico. We have therefore been deprived of sufficient revenues.”

The message says that the government has come to the conclusion that an equal division of land among the people of Mexico is imperative for the purpose of establishing peasant ownership, which it says constitutes the real wealth of the people. With this object in view the government has decided upon the creation of a new department of agriculture and colonization, and the message expresses the hope that congress will approve this action.

WARREN M'CARRICK DEAD

This is the Anonymous Word Regarding Missing Boy.

Philadelphia, April 2.—Warren M'Carrick, seven-year-old boy, who has been missing since March 12, was kicked to death by a horse attached to a farm wagon which was standing near the boy's home, according to a letter received by Robert Cameron, captain of detectives. The writer, who has not revealed his identity or the location of his farm, declares that the boy's hoop rolled under his horse and that when the child tried to get it he was kicked in the head.

The farmer placed him in the wagon and started to drive to a hospital, according to the letter, but finding that the boy was dead, became panic-stricken and took the body to his farm on the outskirts of the city and buried it. He states that he will reveal the spot where the body is buried if he is promised immunity.

Captain Cameron stated that the farmer would not be prosecuted if his story is substantiated. He has been negotiating with the writer for several days through newspaper advertisements as the result of letters received by the boy's father.

WOOD'S SUCCESSOR NAMED

General Wotherspoon to Head Army Staff After April 22.

Washington, April 2.—Major General William W. Wotherspoon, now assistant chief of staff of the army, has been selected to succeed Major General Leonard Wood as chief of staff at the end of General Wood's term, April 22. Brigadier General Hugh L. Scott, commanding the troops at Fort Bliss, Tex., will be assistant chief of staff.

General Wood will assume command of the eastern department, with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York.

EFFORTS TO AMEND
TOLLS REPEAL BILL

Will Be Resisted By the President.

Washington, April 2.—After its recent passage in the house the Panama canal tolls repeal bill is now in the custody of the senate committee on interoceanic canals, of which Senator O'Gorman of New York is chairman. The developments in the upper branch indicated that the debate is to be as bitter there as it has been in the house. Senator Jones of Washington, Republican, took up the attack on the president, characterizing the repeal proposal as an effort to preserve peace “by purchase.” Senator Jones predicted that the senate would prove to the country by defeating the repeal that it was the real tribune of the people and not “the satrapy of the executive.”

Already efforts have been begun in the senate to amend the repeal bill as passed by the house. Two amendments have been introduced and others will follow in quick succession. President Wilson, however, made it clear that he will stand firmly on the repeal bill in the form in which it passed the house.

There is little doubt now that the president will be confronted with a struggle in the senate that may last six weeks or two months before he can hope to bring about the passage of the repeal bill. The president's friends are making claims of a majority of from ten to twelve for the repeal bill in the senate. Chairman O'Gorman has called a meeting of the senate committee on interoceanic canals for next Tuesday.

TO TALK ACROSS
OCEAN THIS YEAR

Marconi Predicts Wireless Telephony In Six Months.

ON EVE OF BIG EXPERIMENTS

With Bigger Machines He Hopes Soon to Be Able to Make It Possible to Carry on a Conversation Between London and Ireland—Working on Wonderful New Instrument.

William Marconi expects to telephone across the Atlantic in the near future, possibly within six months. This statement he made to the New York Times' London correspondent, at the same time denying the report which has frequently cropped up in the last few months that he had succeeded in talking across the Atlantic.

“Some newspaper accounts of my recent experiments in Italy,” he said, “were very funny. Here is one that says I succeeded in talking over a distance of more than 4,000 miles. As a matter of fact, we talked by wireless over a distance of slightly more than forty-five miles, which was all we expected and knew we could do with the apparatus we were using.”

New Telephone Apparatus.

“We were experimenting with brand new apparatus on which I began work only three months ago and which seems very simple and very practical. We did not intend it to work over big distances. It was not tried over long distances; in fact, I knew it would not work much over forty-five miles. The same type of apparatus would have worked over longer distances, but what we were after was not long distance records, but reliability—reliability first. We were very much gratified by the results.”

“The first and severest test was twelve hours' continuous talking—not all by one man, of course. The twelve hours' talk was provided by several men and a photograph working in relays.”

“The new apparatus is more practical, simpler and less likely to get out of order than anything we have had heretofore.”

“I think transatlantic telephony will be done soon. I think there is no impossibility about it.”

To Talk Across Irish Sea.

“We are building some larger and more powerful machines, and now expect soon to be able to carry on experiments in long distance wireless telephony over 200 or 300 miles. The station at Clifden will, I hope, be doing it soon. We hope soon to talk between Ireland and London if everything doesn't get smashed up over Ulster and prevent the experiment. The station at Carnarvon, Wales, will also soon be experimenting with long distance wireless telephony over a minimum of 300 miles.”

“I am also working on a still bigger machine, the object of which is to send transatlantic wireless telegraph and telephone messages both on the same machine.”

“The commercial possibilities of transatlantic telephony, I think, will not be nearly so great as those of transatlantic wireless telegraphy—at least, not at present. You see, at most we cannot talk more than 100 words a minute over the telephone, whereas we can send 200 words a minute by wireless telegraph.”

In a recent address to students at the law school of the University of Minnesota former President Taft declared that a man at sixty was at the very zenith of his ability.

“When a man is sixty,” he said, “he is able to recognize the defects which have come to him through lack of self restraint and self sacrifice. We know so much at sixty we think we ought to rush in and aid the young men and women to avoid the same pitfalls.”

CHAPTER XIX.

The Hollow of Her Hand.

When Booth called in the afternoon at Sara's apartment, he was met by the news that she was quite ill and could see no one—not even him. The doctor had been summoned during the night and had returned in the morning, to find that she had a very high temperature. The butler could not enlighten Booth further than this, except to add that a nurse was coming in to take charge of Mrs. Wrاندall, more for the purpose of watching her symptoms than for anything else, he believed. At least, so the doctor had said.

Two days passed before the distressed young man could get any definite news concerning her condition. He unconsciously began to think of it as a malady, not a mere illness, due of course to a remark Carroll had dropped when Sara had told him the whole truth of the tragedy and of her own vindictive plans. It was Carroll himself who gave a definite report of Sara. He met the lawyer coming away from the apartment when he called to inquire.

"She isn't out of her head, or anything like that," said Carroll uneasily, "but she's in a bad way, Booth. I'll tell you what I think is troubling her more than anything else. Down in her heart she realizes that Hetty Castleton has got to be brought face to face with the Wrاندalls."

"The deuce you say!"

"Today I saw her for the first time. Almost immediately she asked me if I thought the Wrандalls would treat Hetty fairly if they ever found out the truth about her. I said I thought they would. I didn't have the heart to tell her that their grievance undoubtedly would be shifted from Hetty to her, and that they wouldn't be likely to forgive her for the stand she'd taken. She doesn't seem to care, however, what the Wrандalls think of her. By the way, have you any influence over Hetty Castleton?"

"I wish I were sure that I had," said Booth.

"Do you think she would come if you sent her a cablegram?"

"I am going over—"

"She will have your letter in a couple of days, according to Sara, who seems to have a very faithful correspondent in the person of that maid. I shudder to think of the cable tolls in the past few months! I sometimes wonder if the maid suspects anything more than a loving interest in Miss Castleton. What I was about to suggest is this: Couldn't you cable her on Friday saying that Sara is very ill? This is Tuesday."

"I will cable, of course, but Sara must not know that I've done it."

"Can you come to my office tomorrow afternoon?"

"Yes. Tomorrow night I shall go over to Philadelphia, to be gone till Friday. I hope it will not be necessary for me to stay longer. You never can tell about these operations."

"I trust everything will go well, Brandon."

Several things of note transpired before noon on Friday.

The Wrандalls arrived from Europe, without the recalcitrant colonel. Mr. Redmond Wrاندall, who met them at the dock, heaved a sigh of relief.

"He will be over on the Lusitania, next sailing," said Leslie, who for some reason best known to himself wore a troubled look.

Mr. Wrандall's face fell. "I hope not," he said, much to the indignation of his wife and the secret uneasiness of his son. "These predatory connections of the British nobility—"

"Predatory!" gasped Mrs. Wrандall. "—are a blood-sucking lot," went on the old gentleman firmly. "If he comes to New York, Leslie, I'll stake my head he won't be long in borrowing a few thousand dollars from each of us. And he'll not seek to humiliate us by attempting to pay it back. Oh, I know them."

Leslie swallowed rather hard. "What's the news here, dad?" he asked hastily. "Anybody dead?"

"Sara is quite ill, I hear. Slow fever of some sort, Carroll tells me."

"Is she going to marry Brandy Booth?" asked his son.

Mr. Wrандall's face stiffened. "I fear I was a little hasty in my conclusions. Brandon came to the office a few days ago and informed me in rather plain words that there is absolutely nothing in the report."

"The deuce you say! 'Gad, I wrote her a rather intimate letter—' Leslie got no farther than this. He was somewhat stunned and bewildered by his private reflections.

Mr. Wrандall was lost in study for some minutes, paying no attention to the remarks of the other occupants of the motor that whirled them across town.

"By the way, my dear," he said to his wife, a trifle irrelevantly, "don't you think it would be right for you and Vivian to drop in this afternoon and see Sara? Just to let her know that she isn't without—"

"It's out of the question, Redmond," said his wife, a shocked expression in her face as much as to say that he must be quite out of his head to suggest such a thing. "We shall be dreadfully busy for several days, unpacking and—well, doing all sorts of necessary things."

"She is pretty sick, I hear," mumbled he.

"Hasn't she got a nurse?" demanded his wife.

"I merely offered the suggestion in order—"

"Well, we'll see her next week. Any other news?"

"Mrs. Booth, Brandon's mother, was operated on for something or other day before yesterday."

"Oh, dear! The poor thing! Where?"

"Philadelphia, of course."

"I wonder if—let me see, Leslie, isn't there a good train to Philadelphia at four o'clock? I could go—"

"Really, my dear," said her husband sharply.

"You forget how busy we are, mother," said Vivian, without a smile.

"Nonsense!" said Mrs. Wrандall, in considerable confusion. "Was it a serious operation, Redmond?"

"They cut a bone out of her nose, that's all. Brandon says her heart is weak. They were afraid of the ether. She's all right, Carroll says."

"Goodness!" cried Mrs. Wrандall. One might have suspected a note of disappointment in her voice.

"I shall go up to see Sara this afternoon," said Vivian calmly. "What's the number of her new apartment?"

"You have been up to see her, of course," said Mrs. Wrандall acidly.

He fidgeted. "I didn't hear of her illness until yesterday."

"I'll go up with you, Viv," said Leslie.

"No, you won't," said his sister flatly. "I'm going to apologize to her for something I said to Brandon Booth. You needn't tag along, Lee."

At half-past five in the afternoon, the Wrандall limousine stopped in front of the tall apartment building near the park, a footman jerked open the door, and Miss Wrандall stepped out. At the same moment a telegraph messenger boy paused on the sidewalk to compute the artistic but puzzling numerals on the imposing gridded doors of the building.

Miss Wrандall had herself announced by the obsequious doorman, and stood by in patience to wait for the absurd rule of the house to be carried out: "No one could get in without being announced from below," said the doorman.

"I can get in all right, all right," said the messenger boy, "I got a tellygram for de lady."

"Go to the rear!" exclaimed the doorman, with some energy.

While Miss Wrандall waited in Sara's reception hall on the tenth floor, the messenger, having traversed a more devious route, arrived with his message.

Watson took the envelope and told him to wait. Five minutes passed. Miss Wrандall grew very uncomfortable under the persistent though complimentary gaze of the street urchin. He stared at her, wide-eyed and admiring, his tribute to the glorious. She stared back occasionally, narrow-eyed and reproving, her tribute to the grotesque.

"Will you please step into the drawing-room, Miss Wrандall," said Watson, returning. He led her across the small foyer and threw open a door. She passed into the room beyond.

Then he turned to the boy who stood beside the hall seat, making change for a quarter as he approached.

"Here," he said, handing him the receipt book and a dime, "that's for you." He dropped the quarter into his own pocket, where it mingled with coins that were strangers to it up to that instant, and imperiously closed the door behind the boy who failed to say "thank you." Every man to his trade!

There was a woman in the drawing-room when Vivian entered, standing well over against the windows with her back to the light. The visitor stopped short, in surprise. She had expected to find her sister-in-law in bed, attended by a politely superior person in pure white.

"Why, Sara," she began, "I am so glad to see you are up and—"

The other woman came forward. "But I am not Sara, Miss Wrандall," she said, in a well-remembered voice. "How do you do?"

Vivian found herself looking into the face of Hetty Castleton. Instantly she extended her hand.

"This is a surprise!" she exclaimed. "When did you return? Leslie told me your plans were quite settled when he saw you in Lucerne. Oh, I see! Of course! How stupid of me. Sara sent for you."

"She has been quite ill," said Hetty, non-committally. "We got in yesterday. I thought my place was here, naturally."

"Naturally," repeated Vivian, in a detached sort of way. "How is she today? May I see her?"

"She is very much better. In fact, she is sitting up in her room." A warm flush suffused her face, a shy smile appeared in her eyes. "She is receiving two gentlemen visitors, to be perfectly honest, Miss Wrандall, her lawyer, Mr. Carroll, and—Mr. Booth."

They were seated side by side on the uncomfortable Louis Seize divan in the middle of the room.

"Perhaps she won't care to see me, after an audience so fatiguing," said Miss Wrандall sweetly. "And so exasperating," she added, with a smile.

Hetty looked her perplexity.

"But she will see you, Miss Wrандall—if you don't mind waiting. It is a business conference they're having."

An ironic gleam appeared in the corner of Vivian's eye. "Oh," she said, and waited. Hetty smiled uncertainly. All at once the tall American girl was impressed by the wistful, almost humble look in the Englishwoman's eyes, an appealing look that caused her to wonder not a little. Like a flash she jumped at an obvious conclusion, and almost caught her breath. This girl loved Booth and was losing him! Vivian exulted for a moment and then, with an impulse she could not quite catalogue, laid her hand on the other's slim fingers, and murmured somewhat hazily: "Never mind, never mind!"

"Oh, you must wait," cried Hetty, not at all in touch with the other's mood. "Sara expects to see you. The men will be out in a few minutes."

"I think I will run in tomorrow morning," said Vivian hastily. She arose almost immediately and again extended her hand. "So glad to see you back again, Miss Castleton. Come and see me. Give my love to Sara."

She took her departure in some haste, and in her heart she was rejoicing that she had not succeeded in making a fool of herself by confessing to Sara that she had said unkind things about her to Brandon Booth.

Hetty resumed her seat in the broad French window and stared out over the barren treetops in the park. A frightened, pathetic droop returned to her lips. It had been there most of the day.

In Sara's boudoir, the doors of which were carefully closed, three persons were in close, even repressed conference. The young mistress of the house sat propped up in a luxurious chaise-louge, wan but intense. Confronting here were the two men, leaning forward in their chairs. Mr. Carroll held in his hand a number of papers, prominent among them being three or four telegrams. Booth's face was radiant despite the serious matter that occupied his mind. He had reached town early in the morning in response to a telephone message from Carroll announcing the sudden, unannounced appearance of Hetty Castleton at his offices on the previous afternoon. The girl's arrival had been most unexpected. She walked in on Mr. Carroll, accompanied by her maid, who had a distinctly sheepish look in her eyes and seemed eager to explain something but could not find the opportunity.

With some firmness, Miss Castleton had asked Mr. Carroll to explain why the woman had been set to spy upon her every moment, a demand the worthy lawyer could not well meet for the good and sufficient reason that he wasn't very clear about it himself. Then Hetty broke down and cried, confessing that she was eager to go to Mrs. Wrандall, at the same time sobbing out something about a symbolic, dicky-bird, much to Mr. Carroll's wonder and perplexity.

He sent the maid from the room, and retired with Miss Castleton to the innermost of his private offices, where without much preamble he informed her that he knew everything. Moreover, Mr. Booth was in possession of all the facts and was even then on the point of starting for Europe to see her. Of course, his letter had failed to reach her in time. There was quite a tragic scene in the seclusion of that remote little office, during which Mr. Carroll wiped his eyes and blew his nose more than once, after which he took it upon himself to dispatch a messenger to Sara with the word that he and Miss Castleton would present themselves within half an hour after his note had been delivered.

The meeting between Sara and Hetty was affecting. . . . Almost immediately the former began to show the most singular signs of improvement. She laughed and cried and joyously announced to the protesting nurse that she was feeling quite well again! And, in truth, she got up from the couch on which she reclined and insisted on being dressed for dinner. In another room the amazed nurse was frankly appealing to Mr. Carroll to let her send for the doctor, only to be confounded by his urbane announcement that Mrs. Wrандall was as "right as a string" and, please God, she wouldn't need the services of doctor or nurse again for years to come. Then he asked the nurse if she had ever heard of a disease called "nostalgia."

She said she had heard of "homesickness."

"Well, that's what ailed Mrs. Wrандall," he said. "Miss Castleton is the cure."

Booth came the next morning.

Even as she lay passive in his arms, Hetty denied him. Her arms were around his neck as she miserably whispered that she could not, would not be his wife, notwithstanding her love for him and his readiness to accept her as she was. She was obdurate, lovingly, tenderly obdurate. He would have despaired but for Sara, to whom he afterwards appealed.

"Wait," was all that Sara said, but he took heart. He was beginning to look upon her as a sorceress. A week ago he had felt sorry for her; his heart had been touched by her transparent misery. Today he saw her in another light altogether; as the determined, resourceful, calculating woman who, having failed to attain a certain end, was now intensely, keenly interested in the development of another of a totally different nature. He could not feel sorry for her today.

Hetty deliberately had placed herself in their hands, withdrawing from the conference shortly before Vivian's arrival to give herself over to gloomy conjectures as to the future, not only for herself, but for the man she loved and the woman she worshipped with something of the fidelity of a beaten dog.

At a later conference participated in by Sara, Booth and Mr. Carroll, the old lawyer spoke plainly.

"Now are you both willing to give serious consideration to the plan I propose? Take time to think it over. No harm will come to Miss Castleton, I am confident. There will be a nine days' sensation, but, after all, it is the best thing for everybody. You propose living abroad, Booth, so what are the odds if—"

"I can't live abroad unless Hetty reconsiders her decision to not marry me," said the young man dimly.

"Gad, Sara, you must convince her that I love her better than—"

"I think she knows all that, Brandon. As I said before, wait! And now, Mr. Carroll, I have this to say to your suggestion: I for one am relentlessly opposed to the plan you advocate. There is no occasion for this matter to go to the public. A trial, you say, would be a mere formality. I am not so sure of that. Why put poor Hetty's head in the lion's mouth at this late stage, after I have protected her so carefully all these months? Why, take the risk? We know she is innocent. Isn't it enough that we acquit her in our hearts? No, I cannot consent, and I hold both of you to your promises."

"There is nothing more I can say, my dear Sara," said Carroll, shaking his head gloomily, "except to urge you to think it over very seriously. Remember, it may mean a great deal to her—and to our eager young friend here. Years from now, like a bolt from the sky, the truth may come out in some way. Think of what it would mean then."

Sara regarded him steadily. "There are but four people who know the truth," she said slowly. "It isn't like

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Albert Ogle will occur April 6th. They will receive their friends informally at their home 973 Middle Drive Woodruff Place in the afternoon from 2:30 till 5:00 and also in the evening from 8:00 till 10:30. Rev. Mr. Ogle was pastor of the First Baptist church of Seymour for about fourteen years and the present building was erected during his pastorate.

He left Seymour in 1884 removing to Franklin where he was pastor for several years. He then served for nearly twenty years as superintendent of missions for the Indiana Baptist Convention. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ogle have many friends in Seymour who will join in extending their best wishes to them on the occasion of their wedding anniversary.

NEVER WITHOUT A BARGAIN

Second Anniversary Sale

of The Philadelphia Bargain Store

In announcing the second Anniversary Sale we wish to take the opportunity of thanking our many friends and patrons for their kindly feeling towards this store and for their liberal patronage. Two years ago The Philadelphia Bargain Store opened its doors to the citizens of Seymour and Jackson County with a small stock of shoes, men's clothing and furnishing goods. Since then the store has grown most phenomenally, twice have we had to enlarge our store room and make other improvements to accommodate our ever increasing trade. Today we carry nearly three times the amount of stock as we had in 1912 and we can assure you the lines are more varied and a much larger selection to choose from than ever before.

We believe we have accomplished this great growth by giving you the very best merchandise obtainable and selling it to you at the lowest possible prices, backing it up with our personal guarantee. This policy we will continue and never before has it been followed so closely as during this Second Anniversary Sale, as a glance at the following prices will prove to you. Again we thank you and extend you a pressing invitation to attend this Sale.
